CLAW MATCH TO BE FEATURED ON “UFC FIGHT PASS” DURING CAMPBELL-NEBRASKA DUAL

Ashburn, VA—The Champions League of American Wrestling, LLC (CLAW) will showcase an exhibition match between top-tier wrestlers, Jordan Oliver and Bryce Andonian, on November 15 at Campbell University. The match will be held during intermission of a NCAA dual meet between Campbell University and the University of Nebraska. The match will be streamed live on UFC Fight Pass and take place on the baseball diamond at Jim Perry Stadium in Buies Creek, NC.

Oliver is a 2x NCAA champion and 3x NCAA finalist from Oklahoma State University. He transitioned to MMA but continues to compete in wrestling. In recent years, Andonian has been one of the most exciting college wrestlers in the nation for Virginia Tech. He is a 3x NCAA All-American and currently competes for the Southeast Regional Training Center in Blacksburg, VA.

Commissioner Tom Houck stated, “We are thrilled to showcase CLAW’s exciting rules with high-level wrestlers. Oliver and Andonian just battled at the U.S. World Team Trials in a thriller that was decided in the final seconds, so we’re expecting an awesome match. We want to thank Campbell head coach Scotti Sentes for inviting CLAW to be part of this awesome event.”

CLAW is a professional wrestling league with six teams debuting in 2025. Traditional rules are modified to increase action, scoring, strategy and fan engagement. Follow CLAW on Instagram, X, Facebook and YouTube at @CLAW_Wrestling.

General Admission tickets to attend the dual meet will be available for only $10.
